Weymouth to host UKIP national party conference

MORE than 1,000 delegates will pack out Weymouth Pavilion when it hosts the United Kingdom Independence Party's 2017 national conference.

Organisers have already booked both the theatre and the Ocean Room for the showcase two-day political event.

South Dorset UKIP chairman Francis Drake – who is his party's first ever member on Weymouth and Portland council – said the Pavilion would be perfect for the conference.

He added: "We are expecting more than 1,000 delegates from all over the country on March 3rd adn March 4th, 2017, including our leader, Nigel Farage, and all our main figures.

"It is a tremendous coup for Weymouth to be chosen to host the conference.

"The economic benefits to the town in an off-season period will be enormous because it will be by far the largest single political gathering this town has ever seen. Weymouth needs more major events such as this conference. Hopefully it will show what the town can do on a large scale.

"The eyes of the country will be on us because the biggest issue conference will debate is clearly going to be getting this country out of Europe.

"Our conference will be close to the referendum the Government has promised to hold in 2017 and that means that everything we discuss and debate on the issue will draw national coverage. With Nigel Farage here in town that is doubly certain!"

by Harry Walton

A chance to host a national political conference has delighted Weymouth Pavilion manager Phil Say.

He said: "The UKIP conference will continue the expansion of the Pavilion from 2016 when we are hosting the annual national Rotary conference here in March.

"To get UKIP for 2017 is a feather in our cap recognising just what a useful facility the Pavilion is and how far we have come since the threat of demolition

"UKIP brings with it national publicity, national awareness and national money, but it also continues the theme we have tried to promote of the Pavilion helping Weymouth as a town.

"You are going to have some 1,000 delegates here and they all have to stay somewhere, eat somewhere, drink somewhere and relax somewhere.

"That offers multiple opportunities not just for the Pavilion but for the whole town to benefit at what is a slack time of year.

"Staging this conference could open the floodgates because once one national body finds our facility then word of mouth will spread to others."

WRITER Lorna Cowan, who moved to Charmouth about a year ago, has recently published a book on the heritage and history of the Dorset village.

"A Look Back at Charmouth", which has lots of old photos, takes a fond look back at the history and heritage of the village and highlights what has changed there over the years.

This is Lorna's first book, having previously worked in publishing and writing for magazines and online for 25 years.

WHAT is the book, 'A Look Back at Charmouth', about?

"A Look Back at Charmouth" does just that, it takes a fond look back at how the Dorset village has changed over the years. It would be a shame if the heritage and history of Charmouth was lost or forgotten, so I've gathered much of it together alongside old photographs and postcards. Hopefully this book will ignite memories and spark conversations.

WHY did you write the book?

Although I've been visiting west Dorset for over two decades, I only moved to Charmouth at the end of last year. Buying a house just before Christmas meant that I hadn't really bought any presents, so I thought I'd get my husband a book on Charmouth as a stocking filler, so he could find out more about the history of the village we had just moved to. I was surprised to discover there wasn't one, so that's when I decided to write a book myself.

HAVE you written other books?

This is my first book, but I've been working in publishing for over 25 years, writing for magazines and online. I was editor of Which? Travel magazine and before that editor of All About Soap magazine, so I've written about lots of different places and people.

WHY did you choose Charmouth?

I've always wanted to live by the coast, and I was charmed by Charmouth. It's a beautiful place to call home and I love walking along the beach and over the cliffs, where you get the most spectacular views. Everyone is so friendly in Charmouth, too. I've made lots of great friends already.

HOW did you find out about the history of the village?

I spoke to the people who have lived in Charmouth for many years and seen the changes themselves. Neighbours had lots of stories to share and photographs to show me. And I turned up at coffee mornings in the village, ever hopeful to be introduced to another local with first-hand knowledge. I also joined the Charmouth Local History Society and looked at the notes written by Charmouth historian Reginald Pavey.

WHAT did you discover?

Charmouth has had many famous visitors over the years, including Charles II, Arthur Conan Doyle, Florence Nightingale and Jane Austen. Some remarkable people have lived and worked in the village too. Properties have been built, renovated, destroyed by fire and inhabited by ghosts! And the coastline has provided inspiration to artists, hiding places for smugglers and long-lasting memories for hol-

Dorset welcomes first Green Party councillor

GREEN Party supporters are celebrating after their candidate, Clare Sutton, won the county council Rodwell seat by-election in Wey-

She becomes Dorset's first Green Party county councillor and immediately pledged to champion community values.

She said: "Getting elected isn't the end of the effort but the beginning. Support for the Green Party is growing all the time across south and west Dorset. This result shows that if you vote Green in Weymouth or in Bridport, or in Dorchester, you have a really good chance of getting Green.

"What we now have to prove is that we are worth voting for. I will fight tooth and nail to represent all those people in Rodwell and elsewhere who feel ignored and excluded by endless cuts in local services."

She said that one of her first priorities will be campaigning on behalf of people living along Weymouth's most polluted street.

Clare said: "Environmental issues sit right at the top of the Green Party's agenda and the plight of people living on Boot Hill shows why. They have been ignored for too long. We want to work with others to try to find ways of improving their lives."

She also pledged that other Green Party priorities would be opposing any attempt to fast track fracking licences in Dorset, helping to tackle the dire shortage of affordable homes in Dorset particularly for young people and supporting the fight to save local services from budget cuts.

Clare said: "People across Dorset are fed up with being constantly warned that valued local services have to go.

"The council's own research shows that fewer than one person

'Neighbourhood policing will always remain a priority' developing its approach to neighbourhood policing.

They are implementing the findings of a comprehensive three-year review - which includes surveys with 254 neighbourhood police officers and PCSOs, interviews with 18 sergeants, and gathering independent data - to ensure that local communities remain at the centre of policing.

The review, named Project Genesis, proposes a sustainable model for neighbourhood policing to ensure Dorset police can continue to deliver an efficient service to the public, regardless of future financial challenges.

The changes will also include renaming the Safer Neighbourhood Teams to Neighbourhood Policing Teams (NPTs) and revising the role profiles for all officers and police staff who work in NPTs. Police officers will focus on protecting high-risk or vulnerable victims, dealing with persistent and repeat offenders, and taking responsibility for the reduction and detection of crime. PCSOs will focus on engaging with local people and working with partner agencies. Volunteers will also be used to support the teams by undertaking administrative Assistant chief constable David Lewis, who oversaw the review and its implementation, said: "Neighbourhood policing is part of the fabric of Dorset Police. Local communities are at the core of what we do. "The review signifies a commitment to these communities, while ensuring that neighbourhood policing can

"The review was not commissioned to make savings and does not, in itself, recommend or require any staff losses. However, we have purposely introduced a model that is scalable and that should be robust enough to continue providing neighbourhood policing, if budget cuts are required in the future.'

Martyn Underhill, Dorset police and crime commissioner, said: "Project Genesis has resulted from a thorough and in-depth piece of academic work which has fully reviewed how Dorset police delivers neighbourhood policing to its communities. This is the most comprehensive review that Dorset police has ever undertaken and I fully support the project.

"However, this project has been undertaken through a period of financial challenges and whilst I am committed to protecting neighbourhood policing, the chancellor's autumn statement later this month will give us more clarity on government funding.

"Further cuts could impact on every area of the force, however, neighbourhood policing will always remain a key priority and this model of policing is

Proposal to cut funding to 22 youth centres

DORSET County Council is proposing to cut funding to its 22 youth centres in a bid to save money - and local residents are being urged to have their say.

DCC has launched a public consultation on a proposal to withdraw funding from its 22 youth centres.

As part of the funding shake-up DCC plan to place youth workers where they can reach more people, and tackle major issues such as self-harming, abuse and anti-social behaviour.

The council will also support local communities - including young people themselves - to continue providing youth clubs, facilities and activities.

The proposed changes in youth services comes as a result of increased demand and shrinking

By 2017, the council will be operating with a third less money than in 2011, with more savings needed to be found in the budget.

A statement from Dorset County Council said: "It costs £2.2million a year to provide youth services, spending which has to be reduced by around £1million.

"In September, we asked young people and local communities to tell us about current youth services and what was important to them. We had more than 2,200 responses more than half of which were from young people.

"There are currently 22 councilrun youth centres, and we also support other organisations to run youth clubs by providing staff or funding. Yet our data suggests only a small percentage of the county's 13-18-year-olds go to a youth centre, which means some of our most vulnerable young people are potentially missing out on vital sup-

"The public consultation (ending December 16th) will seek feedback on the proposal to change our approach, delivering these services in a more targeted, effective way.'

It continued: "Under the new proposal, youth workers will be directed to places including schools and skate parks, and devote more time to children and young people with acute needs. At the same time, the county council will provide funding and work in partnership with parish/town councils, voluntary groups and communities to ensure there are still plenty of places for young people to go and things for them

Councillor Toni Coombs the council's Cabinet member for children and young people said: "Although we are reducing our youth services budget, we will still have more than £1million to spend and need to use this money wisely.

"There are also many other organisations and community groups across Dorset that support young people by providing places to go and things to do.We would like to work more closely with them so we can target our resources where they are most needed. We want a more effective service that supports the most vulnerable while giving all young people the exciting opportunities they deserve.'

STALLS were busy at the vegan fair

By Trevor Bevins trevorbevins@gmail.com

DORCHESTER'S first vegan fair attracted 900 people on Saturday - including those who queued in the rain before the doors of the Corn Exchange opened.

Organiser Lizzie Shaw said she was delighted with the response which, she said, had justified her faith in bringing the fair to the west of the county.

'Thank you so much to everyone who fought their way through the driving rain to come along, we had a fantastic 900 people through the doors," she said.

The event featured food, clothing and make-up, as well as a range of other products and was run in both the main Corn Exchange hall and, upstairs, in the town hall.

Lizzie says the response to the fair reflects a growing interest in a healthy and crueltyfree lifestyle.

She said the because of the support in Dorchester she will be bringing the fair back again next year. Her next vegan fair is in Bournemouth in June.

Amongst the contributors was former Thomas Hardye pupil, Alex Beer, from Charminster who runs Feed the Soul. Alex said that she was delighted with the response to the fair in her home town and, like Lizzie, believes there is a growing number of people who are taking more care in what

Affordable housing to be subject of Labour debate

THE problems of providing enough affordable homes will be discussed at a public meeting in Dorchester next week.

The November 25th meeting, at 7pm in the Corn Exchange, will discuss affordable housing both to rent and buy.

West Dorset is now one of the areas which has the biggest gap between average income and average house prices.

Claudia Sorin of Dorchester Labour Party, which has organised the event said: "We will be holding a public meeting across the road from the latest private development. We want to get the views of families in the area who are being priced out of the housing market due to the lack of supply at locally affordable prices.

"Dorchester's residents are facing a housing crisis the likes of which it has not seen in generations. The Government has presided over the lowest level of house building in peacetime since the 1920s. The consequence is that families are being priced out of local housing whether this is renting or buying. We know there is real demand for both first time and family homes in the area."

Figures obtained by Labour show that the wait for a three bedroom house can be up to eight years with a two bed flat being up to 10 years.

with a two bed flat being up to 10 years.

Ms Sorin continued: "This simply is not good enough. Should we have luxury second homes built in Dorchester, when we can't provide homes for our existing residents?"

Labour believes West Dorset District Council should take action to tackle the housing crisis by requesting private developers build real affordable housing, whether to rent or buy to help deal with the growing housing problem in West Dorset. Labour has invited the other four political parties in the area to attend as they need to make a positive contribution to this debate.

Local resident, Chris Williams will chair the pubic meeting.

Mr Williams said: "I was delighted to be asked to chair such an important local debate. I have lived in the centre of Dorchester for many years. Like others, I am concerned that many of the younger generation may never be able to afford to live in their home town."

Dorchester Labour party have also announced the key organisations invited to take part in the public meeting. Invitations to speak have gone to representatives at Shelter, Magna Housing Association, City & Country - the developers of the Dorchester Prison site and the Councillor for housing at West Dorset District Council.

Members of the public with views or questions on the future of housing are encouraged to attend the event to be held at the Corn Exchange. The meeting will start with guest speakers addressing the audience for five minutes. Questions will then follow from the public.

Pleas to report vandalism following tree damage

THE community have come together to condemn vandalism in the Nothe Gardens, which has seen 41 trees damaged during the last few months.

Tara Williams and

Tara Williams and David Parry of the Weymouth and Portland Borough Council Parks Department have been cataloguing the trees that have been damaged so they can inform people who have donated the trees in memory of loved ones, of what has happened.

Local resident Richard Nickinson, whose mother and father are remembered with a memorial bench in the Nothe Gardens, said: "I can well understand the distress this will cause relatives who will be devastated to think that mindless indi-

Councillor Ian Bruce said: "The borough has been working with a large number of groups who have made our parks the envy of the world. In particular the council have been introducing Community Orchards and the Tumble Down Farm Project, which not only are good for the environment, but boost the health of the people tak"We are asking the police to take vandalism very seriously but we need to whole community to work together to identify those who are causing these problems."

An appeal has been made to anyone who witnesses vandalism to report it to the police.

A taste of Thailand comes to Weymouth

WEYMOUTH'S first traditional full Thai restaurant has opened in St Mary Street.

The Chorntong Thai Cuisine Restaurant has seating for 22 diners and a kitchen run by two award-winning chefs from a fivestar hotel in Pattava.

Co-owner Nick Winter said: "By profession I was a vintage and classic car restorer for more than 40 years, but I decided to try my hand at a different profession with my Thai wife, Anyawee.

"We wanted to start a small and intimate Thai restaurant with emphasis on good quality food at affordable prices. "Our recipes and dishes mainly come from central Thailand which is famous for meals such as green curry, red curry, pad thai, chicken satay and river prawn spicy soup.

"We looked at a variety of sites but chose this one because as soon as we walked by it we realised the building was perfect for us.

"We have now installed a top of the range kitchen including state of the art safety equipment to complement the skills of our superb chefs while all our fixtures and fittings are solid wood. There is even a special viewing area into the kitchen where customers can see their meal being cooked. "We have also imported specially made light fittings from Thailand intricately constructed from coconut shells while our decorations and paintings are also from Thailand."

He added that the restaurant will be offering people an entirely new town centre dining experience.

Nick said: "We will be the only Thai restaurant of our kind in the entire area and the only one with a female chef who sometimes comes out and sings for the customers!"

The couple are now planning an official opening at which traditional Thai dancers will perform.

Rose is a selling star

A DORCHESTER Cambridge Weight Plan consultant has been rewarded for all her hard work and support she offers to clients.

Rose Bunce, 54, has been named the direct selling star of the year at the first ever UK Direct Selling Awards.

Hosted by the Direct Selling Association (DSA) the trade body for direct selling in the UK - the awards recognised eight of the most outstanding direct sellers in the UK.

Ms Bunce was awarded the title after impressing judges with her tireless work to build her business, improve how she works and help and support new direct sellers in the industry.

Ms Bunce said: "I was speechless, it was a totally awesome weekend, some amazing and worthy

"To me this shows there is so much more to running a local business, it's more than making money, it's about the ability to change peoples lives, transform their weight, health and life. Then for their financial security by the chance of self employment supported and mentored by myself along with the security of the DSA protection. True life transformation with my circle of success."

Rose suffered a life changing assault by four men while working as a police officer, which left her with severe injuries and forced to give up her job.

Having been previously successful on the Cambridge Weight Plan diet, she started direct selling to family and friends.

Her business took off and even when she relocated to Dorset, she turned to social media and networking to continue to grow her client base and business.

VICKY Ashby with some of the exhibition's art

Wild art on show

TAKE a walk on the wild side at Dorset Wildlife Trust's (DWT) Fine Foundation Chesil Beach Centre which is hosting a Dorset-inspired Wild Art Exhibition.

It will be displaying art in a variety of mediums created by 12 local artists every day from 10am-4pm until Sunday, November 22nd.

Visitors can browse pottery, silk illustrations, watercolour and oil paintings.

Local painter and potter, Maggie Cook, will be exhibiting at the Art Exhibition.

She said, "Such enjoyment and inspiration comes from nature and wildlife and I'm delighted to take part in the exhibition. I use shoreline and tideline patterns and the flight of birds to inspire my ceramic pieces of work."

Centre assistant Vicky Ashby said: "We are very excited about the exhibition. The centre is at the heart of the Jurassic Coast, overlooking the Fleet Lagoon and is the perfect location to exhibit art inspired by nature.

"The standard is amazing, really wonderful, and I am very pleased because we have such a fantastic range of mediums from painting to pottery and from sculpture to silk.

"Visitors have told us that the exhibition looks so attractive and we hope many more people come along to enjoy it before it ends on November 22nd."

DWT's President, Tony Bates, who is displaying his photography at the exhibition said: "The form and beauty of nature and how wildlife fits into the broader landscape has always inspired me and I look to capture that moment that is special for me.

"As President of DWT, I'm delighted to be taking part in the exhibition and I'm glad to share the beauty of close-up wildlife and the landscapes that I enjoy recording."

Visitors can expect to find great gifts for Christmas with prints and cards available along with the original works. The DWT gift shop will also be open with a variety of wildlife products available. All gift shop profits go straight back into conservation work in Dorset

Residents call meeting over pollution concerns

RESIDENTS living on and around Boot Hill have called a public meeting to discuss the problems caused by vehicle fumes.

They claim the road is the most polluted in Weymouth – mainly caused by the phasing of traffic lights which leads to standing traffic and long queues.

Their meeting will be held on Tuesday, December 1st in the Old Town Hall in High West Street.

Changes have already been talked about for the Harbour crossroads junction which leads to Rodwell Road and Boot Hill now that work on the former fire station site has finished.

A study last year found high levels of nitrogen dioxide in the road, double the levels found in other parts of the borough and amongst the highest readings seen in Dorset.

Most of the houses on the hill have front doors which open directly onto the pavement.

The December 1st public meeting will be attended by local councillors and traffic officers.

£500 boost for John's pond restoration

Dorchester Town Council £500 to help meet its costs in restoring John's Pond on the river walk

The pond, part of an old irrigation system for the adjoining water meadows, had been badly silted up and covered in weed.

But now the pond and its sluice gates are flowing freely again after the town council stepped in to pay for the improvement work.

Mayor of Dorchester, Councillor Robin Potter, with Heritage Committee Chair, Councillor Andy Canning received the £500 cheque at the pond on Wednesday from Wessex Water ecologist Jamie Bowkett.

Also there was John Aplin from Casterbridge Fisheries Ltd whose company carried out the work: "We pumped out about 30 cubic metres of silt which was moved to the nearby riverside nature reserve. It was nutritionally very rich so it should do some good there," he said.

To his surprise the pond contained very little rubbish just a couple of old beer bottles and a hob nail boot.

Heritage Committee chair Andy Canning says the ownership of the pond and the riverside walk is a "grey area" but over the years the town council has stepped in to maintain the improve the area, often helped by financial contributions from other councils and organisations.

"It's an important area of the town and very popular with those out for a walk and families who like to come and feed the ducks," said Councillor Canning.

The pond once helped regulate the water in the Mill Stream and would have powered Friary Mill. Legend has it that it is named after a prisoner who escaped the nearby jail only to fall in the pond and drown.

The grid community awards from Wessex Water provides funds for projects that help the environment and wildlife and are organised by The Conservation Foundation.

Weymouth Matters

A personal View by HARRY WALTON

Free parking for carers but why not us?

PLANS are afoot nationally to consider providing free hospital parking for carers.

This is a very sensitive subject on a number of levels with carers welcoming the possibility but other deserving groups asking: "If them, then why not us as well?"

It will probably come as no surprise to you to learn that hospitals are against the idea because they say it will cost them £250 million

WHAT goes around comes around and all the political trumpeting about the benefits of Weymouth's new Olympic transport system are slowly - and harshly being revealed as just so much

We were all told that using those thrice-damned new traffic light junctions would vastly improve the town's chronic traffic problems with complaints that the Boot Hill junction was a nightmare just brushed aside as 'teething problems".

Well we now hear that an expert assessment of Boot Hill is recommending a number of major changes while more than a dozen of the misfiring real-time bus information

Problems of living with a legacy boards are to be axed by Dorset County Council as a cost cutting

> Still we must look on the bright side of such legacies which clearly underline that they are very rarely as good for us as politicians claim they will be.

> And don't forget this. It is barely three years ago that the Games were in full cry and we were being told that measures such as the transport system were making us "the envy of the

> I would imagine the world is now quite glad that it doesn't have what we've got, that it hasn't been left to strip away the hype and try and make the best of some very bad ideas.

Now the last time I looked, sites such as Dorset County Hospital were not businesses. They are a service provided for the population of this country.

Yet that service is sneakily showing more and more focus on generating money from people who, let's face it, wouldn't be coming to hospital if they didn't

As someone who has recently paid so many visits to DCH that I've come close to having my own cubicle I know a bit about the cost of attending hospital both as patient and as a carer.

For a start, you can't budget for time because the medical profession isn't like that. You have to scheme in available staffing levels and how quickly those staff deal with the patients in front of you. That can mean being seen almost immediately or having to wait several hours, so I've taken to parking for free nearly a mile away so I don't have to worry about getting a parking fine.

But not everyone is fit enough to walk that far or has that much time to spare, so they may be forced to use the car park and perhaps put more money into machines for a longer ticket than they might need iust to be on the safe side.

So making parking free for carers is, on the face of it, a good step forward although once you start down that road then other groups should also be considered for free parking.

To do this means ignoring hospitals' warning about losing all that revenue which means that if it doesn't come from parking then it has to come from somewhere

That decision will ultimately have to come from Government but at least debate on the whole issue has now been opened up. Personally I am against charging for hospital parking for patients and carers etc.

THIS week's Growing Old Disgracefully slot looks at companionship and whether a plastic pet is better than a real

All too often elderly people find themselves living alone and seek to provide themselves with some company by taking on a dog, cat, budgie or other pet.

But costs can spiral, so should pensioners opt for a plastic pet instead?

Of course they should because the pet advantages remain the same while you do away with pooping, peeing, feeding, fleas, mangled furniture and other side effects of looking after a creature.

You can chat happily away with it just as you would with a living pet but without annoying interruptions to take it for a walk in the rain, answer its calls for food in the middle of a TV program or let it out for a toilet visit.

It's a win-win situation and your plastic pet has one other advantage. It can be put out for recycling if you get fed up

Autumn is definitely here as fog descends

THERE is nothing quite like fog to underline the fact that autumn is here.

Drawing back the curtains only to find you can't see the milkman never mind the end of the road is something peculiarly autumnal.

That has happened quite a bit recently but it is the way sound behaves in fog which can be particularly strange.

All I did was go out and get our wheely bin in, but I had to pause to allow an oncoming car to pass.....only there was no car there.

The vehicle was actually passing at the top of our road not in it yet it sounded so much closer. Strange thing fog.

December last year as part of a World War One centenary, raising more than £1,000 for two military charities and a raffle added £100 for the Royal British Legion.

Before the match a short service of Remembrance was held on the pitch, led by Magpies Community Director, Allen Knott, a licensed lay minister. A minutes silence was held and the Last Post was also played.

Mr Knott said: "As a community club we want to reach out to the community as much as possible. We felt after the match last year we wanted to retain the links with the army.

"This match was held for three reasons. Firstly we wanted to enjoy a game of football, our national sport. Secondly we wanted to honour the people who have died for us so that we can play in peace and freedom, and thirdly we wanted to reach out to the community."

At the end of the match a winner's trophy, sponsored by Nigel Brain of Perfect Day Weddings, was presented to Dorchester Town FC.

Mr Brain also chose a man of the match for each team.

The event raised £240 for the Royal British Legion. The club hope to maintain links with the Army with a pre season match next year.

For Homoeopathy to be effective the remedies must be given according to homoeopathic principles. understanding is that all expressions, physical, mental, emotional and spiritual carry a message, a sensation, which is repeated in everything you say. This gives me the information I need to prescribe the most similar remedy to all your symptoms. In Homoeopathy we call this "like cures like"

Homoeopathy is powerful because it addresses not only the physical symptoms but also the mental and emotional. When the appropriate homoeopathic remedy is given patients often feel much better and happier, as well as their symptoms receding.

Time to become a nation mindful

By Abi Jackson, Press Association

MINDFULNESS FOR ALL

Schemes have already been rolling out, but next step challenges include ensuring training practices and standards are well regulated, and also ensuring that access extends to those in society who arguably need it most.

"There are groups of people that we need to think very carefully about reaching," says Professor Kuyken. "Those that are living with long-term mental health problems, those that are living with chronic physical health problems - and they often co-occur. "The rates of co-occurrence of mental and physical health problems are actually quite high, and the thing about mindfulness is that it can actually give people the skills to cope with both their mental health and the suffering around their physical health. I think there's also something about reaching the most vulnerable in our society, those in the criminal justice system for example, the people that don't have good access to good healthcare, don't have access to good schools, maybe our long-term unemployed...

"How can we find ways of reaching those people?"

Edwards & Parr

EDWARDS & PARR opened in March this year, and offers a wide range of gifts for the home. Rather than having a single style of gift; we wanted to create a department store of gifts – so that whatever style your home is, or whoever you are buying a gift for, you would find the perfect thing at Edwards & Parr. We also wanted a range of prices, whether you're looking for a secret Santa gift for under £5, or a one off piece from the gallery for that special someone.

We stock gifts from many West Country and local makers; including St Eval Candles, Bere Pottery, Colwin Way woodturning from Uplyme, Driftmoods slate from Devon and Lyme Bay Collection candles. All of our artists in the gallery are also local – Peter Vernon wood sculpture, Michael Stride Coastal fine artist and of course our resident wildlife artist Emma Bowring.

We would like to wish you all a Merry Christmas, and hope to see you over the Christmas season.

The Writing Room

Make time for The Writing Room this Christmas, a design gift shop and haven for the stationery lover and writer. Housed in a quirky Georgian building at the bottom of Lyme Regis (next door to Aroma café), it's like stepping into a cosy front room. Rumour has it that Jane Austen once dined here; now take time to browse the literary curios and find the ideal gift for friends and family of all ages.

Stylish Lamy fountain pens & rollerballs and Leuchtturm notebooks come in bold colours. Beautifully made rubber stamps from The English Stamp Company are made in Dorset; inkpads come in a dozen shades. Handmade designs such as Forget Me Not notebooks and carefully chosen classic fiction covered in vintage fabrics.

Bookbinding is at its best here, by David Squirrell of Bridport, as well as a hint of the Mediterranean with gorgeous notebook designs and bookmarks by Octaevo. From Paris, a wide range of inks, cartridges, pa-pers and pens from J. Herbin, plus fabulous brass extending pencils and ballpoints for the discerning

For letter writing try our selection of recycled specialist papers, including wildflower-seeded paper for replanting, from Somerset. Or a quill made in Axminster for the old fashioned touch. Sit at our writing desk to pen a letter, and owner and writer Janis Lane will post it for you. And to help you ponder your prose we even offer humbugs - without the Bah!

WORLD RHYTHMS. BLUES AND MOODY CINEMATIC MUSIC

LONDON-BASED band L'Orchestre du Mont-Plaisant bring together world rhythms and moody cinematic moments at Bridport Electric Palace TONIGHT (Wednesday, November 18th).

Playing blues and dance pieces, with notable influences from Congolese Soukous, African highlife, Ethiopian jazz, cumbia, and whiff of Middle-East and Turkish Psychedelia, the band have been featured extensively on BBC Radio 6.

Says bassist and singer Andrea Piro: "Our set is made up mainly of danceable pieces and we just love it when that happens. It definitely helps us in our performance when you see people moving.

"We are all avid listeners and always searching for new exciting music. We go into periods where we look for this or that particular rhythm coming from a certain specific part of the world, each of us looking for different things, endlessly influencing each other.

They have toured extensively throughout England, Germany, France, Italy, Slovenia, Hungary, Montenegro, Croatia, Serbia, Spain, Holland, Belgium and shared stages with the likes of Kuabata Makoto, Hype Williams, Imperial Tiger Orchestra, The Experimental Tropic Blues Band and Talibam! amongst others.

Tickets cost £10.50 in advance from the venue or Bridport TIC on 01308 424901 or £12 on the door. Tickets are also available online via seetickets.com

The Total Who Show

TALKIN' 'BOUT YOUR GENERATION

ALL THE classics of iconic rock band The Who hit the stage at the Marine Theatre in Lyme Regis on Saturday, November 21st. The Total Who Show delivers an incendiary set of songs performed by top British act, Johnny Warman's Magic Bus, including 'Won't Get Fooled Again', 'My Generation', 'Pinball Wizard', 'Who Are You, 'Substitute', and 'Behind Blue Eyes'.

Johnny Warman's Magic Bus comprises worldrenowned session musicians who have worked with Elton John, David Bowie, Ringo Starr, Peter Gabriel, Asia, Julian Lennon, ABC, Cheap Trick, Bruce Springsteen, Foo Fighters, and many more.

"Back in 1971, a friend put on a cassette that changed my life forever – Who's Next," says front man, Johnny Warman. "Ever since, my love of The Who has never left me. So a few years ago, I formed a band of world-class musicians to perform the best of The Who's music. We don't dress up as The Who. We pay tribute to the band in our own way, bringing our individual flair and energy to the songs."

Johnny has close links with the biggest band of the era – The Beatles – and signed to Ringo Starr's record company in 1977. While recording his first solo album at Tittenhurst Park, where John Lennon recorded 'Imagine', Ringo's then 13-year-old son, Zak Starkey - and The Who's current drummer - showed Johnny his new drum kit. "When Zak opened the door, the room was filled with Keith Moon's famous 'Pictures of Lily' drum kit," says Johnny.

To this day, Johnny, Ringo and Zak remain friends. Johnny has opened for Ringo's All Starr Band, featuring musicians including Zak, Todd Rundgren, Joe Walsh, Nils Lofgren, Timothy B. Schmit, Dave Edmunds and Tim Cappello.

Tickets are £14.50 (£12.50 concessions) and available by calling 01297 442138 or visiting www.marinetheatre.com

PISTOLS AT THE PALACE

FROM their early singles for Concrete Records to their genre defying Six Million Ways To Live LP, the Dub Pistols have always added a much needed Rock and Roll swagger to the UK's dance scene, and this Saturday (November 21st), they are performing at Bridport Electric Palace, with Kuenta i Tambu as support.

Chewing up hip-hop, dub, techno, ska and punk, and spitting them out in a renegade futuristic skank they have consistently defied genres and exceeded the highest of expectations.

Their genre-mashing abilities have led to remix work for the likes of Moby, Crystal Method, Limp Bizkit, Bono, Korn and lan Brown, and seen them work with hiphop legend Busta Rhymes on 'One', a track for Blade 2 and Molotov, the Y Tu Mama Tambien soundtrack.

In recent years the band has mutated from a studio-based duo into a fully fledged live act often featuring the talents of guest vocalists Rodney P, Specials front man Terry Hall, rap wünderkid TK, Sugardaddy horn-blower Tim Hutton and scratch maestro DJ Stix. This year's Glastonbury saw Neville Staple from The Specials the encore 'Gangsters'.

Kuenta i Tambu

Inspired by traditional Afro Caribbean music from Curacao and European dance, Kuenta i Tambu (also known as KiT) has created a brand new sound!

They cleverly found a balance between electronic sound samples, singing and chanting and the infectious rhythms played by ritual tambu drums.

Some call it 'Global Bass', others prefer labeling it 'Tambutronic', but one thing is for sure: it's a wild and colourful explosion of energy, and always seems to set off some serious movements on the dancefloor

Kuenta i Tambu translates to 'Stories and Drums' from Papiamentu, which is the language

Aruba and Bonaire (Dutch Antilles). The group is based in Amsterdam and was formed in 2005 after a series of educational projects at schools and theatres to introduce the music and culture of Curacao to children in the Nether-

During this period the first songs were written, establishing the sound and identity of the group which nowadays is known for its high energy shows, with a great deal of humoristic highlights, hypnotizing beats and dazzling percussive interplay between band members.

The Dub Pistols play at the Electric Palace this Saturday, November 21st at 8pm (doors 7pm). Tickets are £13 in advance or £15 on the door, or £13.20 from www.seetickets.com

Shappi to headline Sunday Night Comedy

SHAPPI Khorsandi comes to Weymouth this week to headline the final Sunday Night Comedy show at the Weymouth Pavilion for 2015.

One of the leading women in comedy for almost a decade Shappi has appeared on Live At The Apollo, Mock The Week, Qi, Have I Got News For You and countless Radio 4 shows cementing her reputation as one of the UK's most successful and funny female comedians.

Famed for her feisty, flirty and effortlessly funny comedy, Shappi handles every subject with a razor sharp wit, softened only by her deliciously dizzy delivery and endless charm. Joining Shappi on November 22nd will be resident MCTom Glover and two of the fastest rising stars on the UK comedy circuit, Pierre Novellie and Chris Martin.

South African born Pierre Novellie recently made his TV debut on BBC Three's Edinburgh Comedy Fest Live after a hugely successful debut solo show at the Fringe festival. Pierre has also been a panellist on BBC Radio 4's The Rest is History hosted by Frank Skinner and written for numerous other shows, he looks set to be the next big name to emerge from the Cambridge Footlights Alumni.

Completing the line up will be Chris Martin, one of the UK's best young observational comedians. Chris has been chosen to support Jack Whitehall, Milton Jones and many other names on tour up and down the country and is a favourite on the circuit for his hugely original social commentary and trademark hilarious anecdotes.

The final Sunday Night Comedy at Weymouth Pavilion show for 2015 will be at 7:30pm this Sunday, November 22nd. Tickets are £15 and available online at www.weymouthpavilion.com or from the box office on 01305 783225.

Encore have Blithe Spirit this autumn

REHEARSALS are well under way for the cast and crew at Encore Theatre Club as they prepare for their latest production. This year's performance will be Noël Cowards classic Blithe Spirit, to be held in Bridport Arts Centre in November.

Blithe Spirit is a highly popular comic play that has been revived many times since its record breaking opening run in the West End. The play was first performed in 1941, with Broadway transfer production following hard on its heels. Its most recent outing was in the West End with Angela Lansbury last year - demonstrating the ongoing appeal of the play Noël Coward described as an "improbable farce".

The smash comedy hit revolves around socialite and novelist Charles Condomine, who invites the eccentric medium and clairvoyant, Madame Arcati, to his house to conduct a séance, with the aim of gathering material for his next book. His plans backfire when he is haunted by the ghost of his annoying and temperamental first wife, Elvira, after the séance. Elvira makes continual attempts to disrupt Charles' marriage to his second wife, Ruth, who cannot see or hear the ghost.

Performances are from Tuesday 24th to Saturday, November 28th at Bridport Arts Centre. Tickets are £10 (opening night £8) and are on sale at the Arts Centre Box Office, tel: 01308 424204, or online via the website at www.bridport-arts.com

Bridport Chamber Orchestra's Autumn Concert

THE Bridport Chamber Orchestra performs a wide range of pieces at the Autumn Concert on Sunday, November 29th at St Swithun's Church in Bridport.

Alex Ennis, who leads the BCO, the Axe Vale Orchestra and the Taunton Symphony Orchestra, will perform the glorious Bach A minor violin concerto.

The programme also includes the romantic Serenade by Elgar and the dramatic Holberg Suite by Grieg, a stately Andante Festivo by Sibelius and, as a complete contrast, Alma Llanera, full of toe-tapping Latin American rhythm. This piece is often called the second national anthem of Venezuela and pays homage to the folk music of the wide open plains of the Llanos. Go to any party or fiesta in Venezuela and you will hear the Alma Llanera; countless versions of it exist. It will certainly leave you dancing out of the concert!

The concert is at 3pm and will be followed by the usual delicious tea and home-made cakes. Tickets at £10 (free entry to students) are available in advance from The Bridport Music Centre and on the door.

Nissan announces pricing and specification for all-new NP300 Navara

NISSAN has today announced full pricing and specifications for the all-new NP300 Navara – the rugged, dependable and capable workhorse with crossover-style comfort and class-leading technology that will propel the brand back to the top of the pick-up segment.

Available in Nissan showrooms nationwide from January 2016, the new model, which builds on Nissan's 80-year pick-up heritage, will be available in five distinct trim grades – Visia, Acenta, Acenta+, N-Connecta and Tekna – and will be priced from £18,376*

Customers of the all-new NP300 Navara will have the flexibility to tailor their vehicle so that it can meet the requirements of the toughest job or the most demanding of lifestyles. The pick-up can be specified with either a double cab or a king cab and a 190PS twin-turbo or 160PS single turbo version of the new 2.3-litre dCi engine. There's also a choice of two or fourwheel drive and a 6-speed manual or 7-speed automatic transmission.

Many of the new model's advanced safety features - including a number of first-in-class technologies – are incorporated across the range as standard. This includes Forward Emergency Braking on all double cab models; driver, passenger, side, knee and curtain airbags; electronic Limited Slip Differential (eLSD); Hill Start Assist and Hill Descent Control (on 4WD models).

Developed with the aim of delivering Nissan crossover-style comfort and refinement to the pick-up sector, even entry-level versions of the NP300 Navara are competitively specified with an appealing array of on-board equipment.

Visia models, for example, feature manual air conditioning (4WD), 5-link rear suspension (DC), Bluetooth telephone integration, steering wheel mounted audio controls, an AUX socket for MP3 connectivity, a USB port, three 12v sockets, automatic headlights with 'follow me home', cruise control and speed limiter (DC).

Step up into the Acenta, and customers will enjoy a number of styling enhancements, including 16" alloy wheels and chrome exterior trim, as well as the Nissan Intelligent Key system with engine start/stop button and a 5" HD full colour TFT screen.

Acenta+ meanwhile, adds the more powerful 190PS 2.3-litre dCi engine, 18" alloy wheels, automatic air conditioning with dual zone climate control, rear colour reversing camera (shown in the rear view mirror), side steps, electric folding heated door mirrors and rear privacy glass.

Moving up the range, the new N-Connecta trim grade puts entertainment to the fore, with the addition of the NissanConnect 2.0 7" touchscreen satellite navigation and entertainment system. This incorporates features including DAB digital radio, a rear colour reversing camera, Bluetooth audio streaming, app integration and live traffic updates.

Topping the range, the Tekna - priced from £24,293* - adds Nissan's Around View Monitor, which uses cameras to give the driver a bird's eye view of the car, as well as rear parking sensors, leather seats with heated front seats, roof rails and LED headlights

In addition, all models in the range benefit from a full manufacturer five-year/100,000 mile manufacturer warranty – providing additional peace of mind as standard.

Kia to launch all-new Niro Hybrid Utility Vehicle (HUV)

KIA HAS today announced its plans to introduce an all-new low emissions vehicle to its growing model line-up. The Niro – labelled a Hybrid Utility Vehicle (HUV) – represents a new concept from the Korean car brand, and marks the development of Kia's first dedicated eco-car platform

Niro will maintain all the practicality and appeal of a compact SUV, while offering greater fuel economy. Engineered from the ground up as a dedicated hybrid vehicle, its attractive, modern styling will help the car stand out in a traditionally conservative sector.

The Niro's all-new platform has been engineered in isolation from exist-ing Kia models, and is designed to accommodate a specific set of environmentally-conscious technologies and next-generation powertrains.

Hyoung-Keun Lee, Vice Chairman & CEO, Kia Motors Corporation, commented, "Our new model is designed to offer buyers everything they could want from a compact SUV in terms of practicality and styling, while providing the typically low running costs associated with a dedicated hybrid powertrain. By encouraging our engineers to take a 'blank canvas' approach, we have tried to develop a car that will appeal to a broader range of consumers."

Lee added, "The compact SUV market remains one of the fastest-growing segments around the world, and by offering a handsome styling, modern appearance, high practicality and extraordinary fuel economy, Kia's new Niro Hybrid Utility Vehicle will be the most appealing and desirable car in

Bold styling for all-new hybrid model

A new addition to Kia's design-led product range, the Kia Niro will boast a brand new design, with a sporty, aerodynamic body, subtly sculptured surfaces and styling details finishing off the car's modern new look. While the Niro is an all-new model, with no direct predecessors, it is still immediately recognisable as a Kia, carrying forward the company's signature 'tiger-nose' grille and a series of other design cues from the latest Kia products. The styling of the new Niro development project has been led by Kia's design centres in California, USA and Namyang, Korea.

Sporting a compact SUV shape, the car's designers highlight the most modern architectural designs and contemporary sculptural art as key inspirations behind the new HUV's body. The vehicle boasts smooth, sleek proportions, while its relatively wide stance portrays stability and a low center of gravity. The long wheelbase minimises the size of the front and rear overhangs, while ensuring occupants enjoy the maximum possible

Class-leading fuel economy and sub-90 g/km CO2 emissions

The main focus of the engineering teams' efforts behind the develop-ment of the new model is to deliver class-leading fuel economy in the compact SUV segment. The Kia Niro will combine a stylish SUV design with greater fuel economy than its rivals, with a target CO2 emissions rating of under 90 g/km (combined, based on the New European Driving Cycle).

Throughout the Niro's development process, it has been conceived as a dedicated hybrid model. The car will achieve its ultra-low emissions levels and impressive fuel economy with a downsized hybrid powertrain, pairing Kia's 1.6-litre 'Kappa' petrol direct injection (GDI) engine (105 ps power out-and 32 kW electric motor. The powertrain's combined power output and torque will be applied to the road through a highly-efficient six-speed dou-

The platform underpinning the Niro has been engineered specifically to accommodate this next-generation petrol-electric hybrid powertrain. A plug-in hybrid powertrain is due to be added to the car's line-up later in its life-cycle.

Ultra-strong steel for Niro's unique new platform

Based upon a bespoke new platform, the Kia Niro's body is made of more than 50% ultra-high strength steel, contributing to the class-leading fuel economy and high safety ratings that development teams are targeting. Part of a wider effort by Kia, the extended use of ultra-high strength steel will help Kia reach its target of a 5% reduction in the average weight of new car bodies by 2020 compared to 2014 levels.

With a strong, lightweight body, the Niro will build on Kia's reputation for producing cars with a strong crash safety performance. The company's engineering teams are targeting the highest possible marks from independent safety test organisations around the world, aided by a host of the latest passive, active and pre-collision safety features Kia has to offer.

The high-strength platform will not only result in a high safety rating, but also help minimise noise, vibration and harshness (NVH), a key focus throughout the Niro's conception. The strong body also enables Kia's chassis and dynamics experts to give the car a smooth, refined ride and engaging handling characteristics.

Production for global markets scheduled to start in 2016

The new Kia Niro Hybrid Utility Vehicle is due to be unveiled next year, with production for overseas markets scheduled to start in late 2016. The car will be built at Kia's Hwasung manufacturing facility in Korea

Kia to improve average fuel efficiency by 25% by 2020

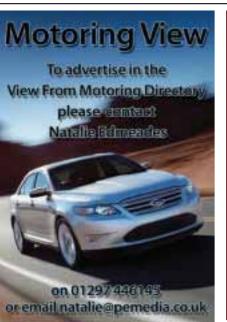

The development of an all-new platform and bespoke powertrain for the Niro will contribute to the brand's ambition to becoming a leader in the low emissions car market by 2020. In the next five years, Kia will expand its current green car line-up from the four current models to 11, and is targeting a 25% improvement to average corporate fuel efficiency over 2014

This expanded range of low-emissions vehicles will encompass a wide range of advanced powertrains, from hybrids and plug-in hybrids to battery-electric and hydrogen fuel cell electric vehicles. The Niro will be among the first of Kia's new models to be designed, engineered and produced as part of this plan.

As well as investment in advanced propulsion technologies, by 2020 Kia will also replace seven out of its 10 current engine ranges with next-generation petrol and diesel units, while increasing the number of turbocharged engines. Higher-efficiency, multi-speed transmissions are also planned, while Kia engineers are targeting a 5% reduction in in the average weight of new car bodies through greater application of ultra-high

Kelly was unlucky not to have doubled his sides lead soon after with a volley that struck the post and rebounded to safety.

Weymouth continued to dominate with Bedford rarely troubling the Terras defence, but on 25 minutes they struck back to equalise, when Matthews was beaten by Solomon Sambou's long range analed drive.

The Fagles could have even taken the lead when a free kick following a foul by Pat Baldwin just after, but fortunately it was just wide of the target.

However Weymouth fought back and seven minutes from the break they went ahead through Yetton. Although not a classic it was an important one as he just got enough on the ball to steer it over the Boore however was not a spectator for all the game and soon after he produced a superb save to maintain the Terras advantage and ensure there was no chance of an Eagles late rally.

With the game drifting towards the inevitable, Bedford's Bilal Yafai was red carded in added time for a crude challenge on Mark Moseley.

The Terras have been drawn away again in the next round at National League South outfit Hemel Hempstead on November 28th.

Shaftesbury Town 5 Balti Sports 1

THE Rockies safely progressed into the last eight with this well-deserved win, which was ample reward for seeing the game go ahead after heavy downpours all morning had seen the tie in doubt, however the pitch was passed fit despite being very sticky in places.

However, this was not a game for the purist; both teams had to work very hard to make any forward runs.

BRIDPORT 2nds travelled to Weymouth to play a friendly in ugly conditions; the game was played in better spirit. After a minute's silence in respect to the people of Paris, the game kicked off, officiated by Chris Burton, The Dorset Rugby Development Officer who has been very supportive of Bridport. Bridport fielded 14 players with a mixture of old hands and young blood. A wel-come return was made by Steve Hodder, Stefan McMaster and Paris Hawkes-Wellstead, who seemed to have lost none of their old magic.

Led by Captain Tim Edwards the Bridport forwards hit Weymouth hard and attacked from the outset. Weymouth on the other hand had a superb combination of outside centre, wing and full back who ran creative

First blood went to Weymouth - a series of running interplay led to the full back converting his own try.

Bridport fought back with a series of attacks by Mark Gough and Edwards, until Gough was taken off injured. Replacement Pete Phillips, having his first game after a neck injury, carried on the attacks and crossed the line only to have the try disallowed as the ref was unsighted.

Changing scrum half Ollie Lavis span the ball to McMaster who punched holes in the Weymouth back line and linked with Hodder to form an effective attack.

Wellstead he ran expert lines but was brought down just short of the try line by a high tackle; unfortunately the ensuing penalty was not converted. Weymouth fought back and once again their full back ran scything lines to score out wide on the wing. Luckily for Bridport the try was not converted leaving the hosts leading 12-0 at the rurnaround.

In the second half Hawkes-Wellstead was closed down by Weymouth who recognised his danger.

This allowed rugby league convert Alex Gale and novice Harry Nelson to show their natural talent. Nelson almost made the try line after a 50-yard run, only to be stopped five yards out. Hawkes-Wellstead linked up and crossed the line only for the replacement ref (Community Coach Gareth Thomson) to be unsighted and Bridport's try was once again disallowed.

Bridport's line-out worked well in the second half with James Wallbridge securing ball thrown in by young hooker Joe

This gave them a good platform to launch more attacks, culminating with Wellstead crossing the line again in the dving seconds, only to find the try to be disallowed once again! It was a disappointing end to a good natured and spirited match.

Beaminster topple unbeaten league leaders

Beaminster 4 Bournemouth 3rd 2

DESPITE a superb second half display from Bournemouth's keeper Gillian Forsyth, Beaminster Ladies kept their cool to inflict the first defeat of the season on Channel One league leaders Bournemouth 3rds.

Beaminster took the lead when Phoebe

Both sides showed lots of enterprise, but it was the hosts that increased their lead midway through the half. Jackie Gape found Prentice who drove the ball across goal for Megan Tuck to fire home with a reverse

But Bournemouth pulled a goal back just before the break through a short corner.

Beaminster started the second half well and regained their two-goal cushion three minutes in when Iris Garcia was quick to snap up a rebound after Forsyth had kept out Prentice's effort from a short corner. However, two minutes later Bournemouth had cut that back to one following a well worked move from a short corner.

Beaminster responded and went back on the offensive which resulted in Forsyth making a number of excellent saves to keep out efforts from Stewart, Prentice and Tuck to keep her side still in the match. Bournemouth rarely tested Rachel Goodfellow in goal, although she made an important save six minutes from time when she smothered a shot down by her left hand post.

Beaminster clinched the win two minutes from time when PotM Stewart, thwarted by Forsyth's save from her first effort, neatly flicked home the rebound.

OU would think especially in the current climate that Yeovil Town Football Club would be anxious not to upset their fans.

Chairman John Fry has gone on record as blaming the small attendances for the club's inability to buy better quality players, as part of the reason for their demise.

However for the club's representatives not to turn up at a function booked months in advance and not inform anyone smacks of ignorance.

The Bridport branch of The Green & White Supporters Club has over 30 loyal members who travel the width and breadth of the country supporting their beloved Glovers.

Binns the man!

AFTER a week of inclement weather the men's November stableford was a bit like school break time as keen and eager golfers went out to play facing the changed conditions.

The ball carried less in the wet conditions and the superb greens, although still true, had less run on them, a tribute to David Everett and his devoted green

Despite the conditions there were some good scores in as Gareth Williams' solid back nine saw him come top of Division One with 38 points.

Heading a clutch of 36 pointers were Rob Clapp and Geoff Moss who finished 2nd and 3rd.

The sest score of the day, after a brilliant front nine, went to David Binns whose 39 points won Division Two ahead of Matt Brotherton, (37) and Joe Thirlwell (36).

Sluggish Bridport pay the penalty

Toolstation Premier – att: 62

BRIDPORT paid the penalty for a sluggish first half in their Western League Premier Division match last Tuesday, and although they gave a better second half display, they could not regain parity against a Willand side that attacked from the outset and were rewarded with two first half goals.

In fact if it had not been for keeper Josh Hadley who made a series of fine saves in the half hour the visitors could have been well ahead as Bridport huffed and puffed without really achieving much.

The first scare came in the eighth minute when a cross from full back Ryan Guppy who made a number of foray down the left before the break, was punched into the air by Hadley, but fortunately the volleved rebound went wide.

The young keeper then produced a superb save from the menacing Angus Wilson whose header took a deflection off a defender but Hadley did brilliantly to get down to parry the ball at the post before it was scrambled away for a corner.

On 16 minutes he was in action again, this time beating away Durham's thunderous shot after he broke through on the right.

A minute later he produced a double save, parrying Guppy's vicious angled shot on the left before recovering to save the follow up at Wilson's feet.

Guppy almost caught him out five minutes later but Hadley managed to turn his swirling cross over

The Bees first real effort on goal came after 25 minutes from a stinging 25-yard drive from Darren Watts that Rovers' keeper Chris Wright saved well down low to his right.

This seemed to give the Bees a lift and when Sean Stewart released Jamie Beasley down the left with a superb angled pass, the former Magpie attempted to cut in instead of perhaps crossing and Willand finally got the reward their efforts deserved when they took the lead on 36 minutes, although Hadley made it difficult.

The young gloveman spilled skipper Brett Worbey's shot but recovered to block the predatory Wilson's first effort. However the ball broke free and the Rovers striker fired the ball home.

Rovers keeper Wright had looked a little unconvincing at times, but he showed his mettle five minutes before the break. A cross from the left ran through to Warren Byerley who hit a venomous shot towards the top right corner only for Wright to spring and turn it for a corner.

Beasley's low resultant flag kick only needed a touch from someone as it skimmed across the face

Instead Bridport found themselves two down right on the stroke of half-time; David Steele stood on the line, getting the slightest flick to Worbey's inswinging corner.

Bridport had more of the ball in the second half but failed to penetrate the visitors' defence.

It wasn't until midway through the half they really threatened, they had a claim for a penalty following Steve Orchard's blatant push on Mark Salter ignored by referee Stephen Oakley who had a patchy game. Bridport continued to apply the pressure and now it was Willand's turn to defend.

manager Phil Case (right) and Rotary President John Clegg.

A two minute interlude of action in the final third ended with Stewart's goalbound shot deflected wide, before the same player just failed to direct his shot from the resultant flag kick on goal.

Beasley then just fired wide before delivering a driven cross that a diving Salter just failed to con-

The Bees then had a second blatant penalty appeal turned down late-on when Steele handled.

Revenge is sweet

Having been embarrassed 7-0 in the corresponding Dorset Premier League fixture back in August, Annetts was pleased to settle the score in this Dorset Senior Trophy tie with a convincing victory.

He said: "The defeat in August was very embarrassing for me and the club. It is probably the lowest point that I've had as manager of the team.

"But the way we performed on Saturday is probably the highlight of my time in charge. I was thrilled with everything we did on the day, and I thought we thoroughly deserved to win."

He praised his players: "They were superb all over the pitch. Harry Fleet and Dan Peach's performances were outstanding, whilst Matt Condliffe up top was tireless and worked his socks off."

Bridport got off to a good start and created a couple of good chances despite the heavy conditions.

They took the lead midway through the half when Peach danced past two opponents before teeing up Condliffe who picked his spot in the top corner.

However, ten minutes later the Bees gave away a

They were then guilty of standing back and not closing down from the resulting flag kick, and Kane Andrews was afforded space to drill a low shot through a crowd of players and beyond keeper Ashley Weeks into the corner.

Bridport came out after the break confident but also wary of Rec's potential, but settled again into a good rhythm and regained the lead on 53 minutes when a superb five man move involving Peach, Fleet, Josh Baker and Condliffe, saw Tom Blair finishing the move he had instigated with a lovely finish from 18-yards.

Condliffe, who had run the two central Rec defenders ragged all afternoon, was then felled 25yards from goal on 65 minutes. Sam Day's curling free kick around the wall was parried by the keeper, Baker was first to react to nod the ball home.

The frustration then crept into the visitors and Marin Warren was dismissed for two yellow cards 15 minutes from time allowing the Bees to coast to a Annetts concluded: "Confidence is high now, and maybe I might have swapped it for three points as we have not picked up so many as we deserved."

Williams' knock sees Martinstown to victory

Weymouth 125-4 by 1 wkt AN enthusiastic crowd bore witness to an absolute thriller in the Dorset Youth Cricket League as two evenly matched teams fought out a titanic struggle at The Osprey Centre in the opening game of their mini league.

out accounted for the Joe James (5).

Weymouth fought back and captain Dom Webb who lead the way with a fine Maltby run out first ball, however S.Willaims (43no) and Nathen McNab (43) staged an excellent recovery.

With six overs gone Martinstown were just behind the required run rate.

Weymouth's Bower (2-26) quickly accounted for Breach (0) and Samways (11) as Weymouth looked to seal victory.

Enter the returning Williams and McNab, who batted with maturity as the match entered the final over with the outcome hanging in the balance.

Needing 10 to win Chedzoy (3-0-21-1) had McNab caught by Webb as the game swung in Weymouth's favour.

But Williams struck a well-placed drive to the back wall tom bring the target down to three with three balls remaining.

A well-placed glance secured the Martinstown victory in a cracker of a match.
